Cheap Gas.

The New York World of the 23d

of November says editorially:

"The Standard Gas-Light Company has increased its capital stock to $10,000,000 and proposes now to enter the field in this city as a manufacturer of cheap patent gas. The public will enjoy the disclosure of the old gas corporations, and will rejoice when gas tumbles from $1.75 to $1.35 per thousand.

The fresh rippling up of the city will be a nuisance, of course, but a little more competition in the illuminating line will not be objected to, provided the municipality is fairly dealt with."

It is understood that the new gas company now being organized in this city will use the same process of manufacture as the Standard Gas-Light Company of New York.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Norman J. Col-

man, Commissioner of Agriculture, to-day submitted his second annual report to the President. He sets forth at length the benefits derived and to be expected from agricultural experiments. Stations and colleges in the several States are constantly working to enlarge experiments, and often find themselves striking "new leads" which they cannot follow for want of means. Hence the general interest in the bill now before

Congress for the establishment of agricultural experimental stations in connection with agricultural colleges, and the prevalent opinion of its importance and desire for its early enactment. "No measure," he says, "is now pending, or proposed, of greater importance or bearing brighter promise of deeposited and lasting benefits to the agricultural interests of the United States in all their branches.

HIS GRACE THE DUKE

NOT SUCH A BAD CHARACTER
AFTER ALL.

The Testimony of a Principal Witness for the Defense Annihilated by the Cross-Examination—Sensation in Court.

By Telegraph to The Times.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—(By Cable.) The hearing in the Campbell divorce suit was resumed today. Ross Baer, formerly lady's maid to plaintiff, testified for the defense. She said the Duke of Marlborough frequently visited Lady Campbell. He usually came in the afternoon, and was shown to the drawing-room. Witness never saw any familiarity between Lord Colin Campbell and Mary Watson. Witness had posted letters daily to the Duke of Marlborough. Lady Colin used to leave the house at 8 o'clock in the evening, and return at 10 o'clock on the following morning. Sometimes in undressing Lady Colin after her return from these absences witness found her dress partially disarranged. Witness heard somebody, after midnight, ascending the stairs to Lady Colin Campbell's room. The person who entered the door of a room adjoining plaintiff's. Next day witness found evidence that the room had been occupied by two persons. Once witness heard the Duke of Marlborough in Lady Colin's room in the afternoon. On one occasion, while witness was brushing Lady Colin's hair, after midnight, coming from the outside of the room, tried the door, and finding it locked, departed. Witness saw Chief Shaw lurking outside the house, with a carriage in waiting. The carriage went away and Chief Shaw entered the house. Witness often mailed letters to Chief Shaw from Lady Colin.

Being cross-examined, Miss Baer denied having threatened to expose Lady Colin. At this point counsel for plaintiff cross-examined Miss Baer very closely, and she admitted that some weeks ago she had signed a statement that Lady Colin Campbell dismissed her because she knew too much about her. Being asked to explain how it came that she signed such statement and now admitted that it was untrue, the witness said she thought "True to the Duke."

"I THINK IT UNTRUE NOW." This recantation caused a sensation among the audience. Continuing, under close cross-examination, witness admitted that the Duke of Marlborough always called upon Lady Campbell during usual visiting hours. He came twice, three, and sometimes five times weekly. Witness posted letters to the Duke of Marlborough every day and some times twice a day. She then admitted that the statements she had made on her direct examination that Lady Colin's dismissal was disastrous on occasions when plaintiff left home early in the evening and returned in the early morning were not true. Under further pressure, Miss Baer admitted she had never suspected that anything wrong had occurred between Lady Campbell and any person but the Duke of Marlborough. Witness admitted that in 1884 and six weeks ago she signed statements alleging that she went to Leigh Court during the Christmas holidays with Lady Campbell and discovered the Duke of Marlborough occupying the room occupied by her mistress and by the Duke of Marlborough as adjoining, and further alleging that the Duke paid great attention to Lady Colin. Witness, however, now admitted that that was a mistake and that it all occurred at Easter. This testimony caused another sensation. Counsel for plaintiff added more pressure, and Miss Baer finally admitted that the Duke of Marlborough was not at Leigh Court at Christmas. She also admitted that the statements she made in her direct examination, about her coming some evening the stairs after midnight one night, and enter a room adjoining Lady Colin's, and another indicating that two persons had occupied the room, were true. Witness, in her original statement, she contended, did not say that two persons had occupied the room on the occasion referred to.

"OLD PROBS."

The Signal Service Bureau to Receive Material Aid From the U. S. WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Lieut. Joseph Powell, of the Signal Service, has been detailed to proceed to Omaha to organize a meteorological service of the Union Pacific Railroad, which is to cooperate with the United States Signal Service. About thirty stations will be established along the line of the railroad. It is stated that the Northern Pacific and Canadian Pacific Railroads also contemplate establishing a meteorological service, and the Signal Service Bureau will be expected to extend the extent of its ability, as the services are expected to materially assist the bureau in weather prognostications. With these aids it is believed that a cold wave or any decided change in temperature can readily be traced in its eastward course.

A Pedestrian Crank. LAFAYETTE (Ind.), Dec. 1.—John Snyder, of Blackfoot county, the man whose only relief from a strange disease that has afflicted him for some time past is found in almost continual walking, was believed a few days ago to have killed himself, and to have resumed walking. Physicians say it is only a question of endurance. Death alone, they say, can relieve him from the iron grip of his mysterious malady. Meanwhile he is doing his five miles an hour, not including rest, he walks 30 hours out of the 24. He shaves while he walks, and takes his meals while on the go. He has not been known to sleep more than four hours out of the 24 in two years.

Charge of the Veterans. DAYTON (Ohio), Dec. 1.—A Cincinnati brewery sent four barrels of beer to the Soldiers' Home, and the veterans, knowing it was a "free blow-out," crowded the beer hall entrance till the large porch broke down. Four hundred veterans filled the barroom, and were unwilling to be turned back. Kept on drinking, without consideration for their 2000 thirty comrades in line outside, waiting their turn. At the officers of the institution saw trouble brewing, they ordered the hall vacated and the doors closed. The prospect for free beer kept all the old soldiers at the home, and trains, usually crowded on holidays, came into the city empty.

A Rheumatic Attack. WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The President has been confined to his room two or three days by a slight but annoying attack of rheumatism, and has for this reason been obliged to deny himself to all callers except Cabinet officers. He is feeling somewhat better today. The President has suffered from rheumatism before, but this is the first attack he has had since he entered the White House.

High License for Poolplayers. ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1.—An ordinance imposing a license of $2000 per annum on book-makers and poolplayers was recommended to the municipal house of delegates for passage last night by the ways and means committee. It was laid over for a week.

A DISAGREEING JURY.

They Receive a Merited Rebuke from Judge Tooky.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.—(By the Western Associated Press.) The jury in the case of Joshua Hamblin, charged with the murder of John Massey, disagreed after being out 18 hours. It stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction. In charging the jury, Judge Tooky said: "You twelve gentlemen have been intrusted with the facts of this case, which have been presented to you by careful and skillful counsel, both for the defendant and the people. I have nothing to say as to what has been proved and what has not. It is your province to determine that. But I will call your attention to this fact before I let you go, and you already know it—that there is a great deal of condemnation of the courts of justice of this city and county on the part of the public, and through their great vehicle, the press. Prosecuting officers are blamed for failures in the administration of justice, and you are as far as I know, have endeavored to do their duty, and so have the prosecuting officers, and whatever wrong there has been in the delay or hindrance in the administration of justice, cannot be traced to the courts. It is the act of the jurors, who are invested with power saying that of that thing that has been proved. When jurors refuse, or decline, or fail to exercise their judicial functions and act as the weak, they are not doing their duty. It is your duty, as jurors, to properly administer justice as it is defined by the law, the public ought to hold them responsible. You have been eighteen hours deliberating over this case. I have not the least doubt in my mind, and I know counsel say that, that something has been proved. There never was a case so clearly proved as the case that you have just tried, and if you gentlemen are unwilling to determine what has been proved, the responsibility must rest upon your shoulders alone, and under the circumstances I will have to excuse you from further deliberation upon this case."

THE CALIFORNIA SOUTHERN.

A Proposition by Its Managers to West-San Francisco, Dec. 1.—(By the Western Associated Press.) It is rumored that $4,000,000 is wanted by the California Southern Railway Company to enable it to occupy the fertile valleys and tap the larger towns in the territory adjacent to that through which the line now runs. It can not be learned that the extent of construction or probable cost has been fully determined upon, but it is well known that the subject is under consideration. There is some doubt whether the line will be extended to California Southern, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe stockholders, but the chances are in favor of the former. Under its charter, the California Southern Company can build no more road, but it can be built in the name of other corporations and leased to the California Southern, the stockholders of the latter corporation furnishing the means as stockholders in the California Southern. The Atchison stockholders, if it chose, take one-half of the rights.

OFFENSIVE PARTISANSHIP.

The President's Civil Service Letter Under Consideration. CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—(By the Western Associated Press.) The Inter-Ocean, speaking of Cleveland and his civil service letter, says: "If Mr. Cleveland should enter the lists in 1888 as a candidate for reelection, and some other notable Democrat should enter the lists against him, and Democratic officials in the government service should be inclined to support some other man than Mr. Cleveland, then under this definition they would be guilty of offensive partisanship and would be subject to removal. Persons loyal to the President is to be the standard of judgment, and the President's letter in the Standard Office for Federal office-holders of what is expected of them. It is in effect a campaign document promising aid to the President in 1888. Any Federal office-holder who is not loyal to the administration—that is, to Mr. Cleveland—becomes an efficient partisan and subject to removal. That is the long and short of it."

A SCHISM THREATENED.

Disaffection Existing Among Local Assemblies of the K. of L. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—(By the Western Associated Press.) In an important matter has entered into the controversy between the green glass manufacturers and blowers over the abolition of the apprentices system. On Monday night meetings of the local assemblies of glass-blowers were held in Clayton, Melville, Salem, Woodville, Williamsburg and Glassboro, Pa., when it was decided they would not strike, as ordered by the Executive Board of the District Assembly No. 149 Knights of Labor, but would surrender their charters rather than join in the strike. The blowers are working with apprentices and under the reduction in wages of 5 per cent, according to the agreement entered into with the glass manufacturers some weeks ago. The respective charters of six assemblies were sent to General Secretary Charles H. Litchman, at the general headquarters in this city yesterday.

THE COMSTOCK AGAIN IN THE FIELD.

Further Improvement in Prices in the San Francisco Stock Market Yesterday—Closing Quotations of Leading Shares.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.—The stock boom went on this morning. Shares which had weakened yesterday fully recovered their tone, and others advanced to higher prices than before. Brokers turned away business, for they were unable to attend to all orders which flooded in upon them. At the first session of the board, Ophir opened at $30, Mexican went to $13.50 and closed at $13.50, Gould & Curry went to $14, Best & Belcher opened at $27 and closed at $25, Consolidated California-Virginia advanced to $43, Sierra Nevada rose to $16, Utah to $10 and Yellow Jacket to $8.75. At the 11:30 session Best & Belcher suddenly dropped to $21.50, and all other Comstocks had a sharp decline, varying from 50 cents to $2.50.

STILL GOING UPWARD. At the last session of the board the falling-off which took place at the second session was not only overcome, but prices took further decided advances. Best & Belcher closed at $27, and Consolidated California jumped to $45. Of this stock the sales were small, aggregating only 225 shares. Gould & Curry closed at $12.50; Hale & Norcross, $20.25; Mexican, $14.25; Ophir, $20.50; Savage, $17; Hale & Norcross, $20.25; Confidence, $15; Potomac, $10.25; Sierra Nevada, $14; Union Consolidated, $11.75; Utah, $10.75; Yellow Jacket, $11.75.

THE NEW JAIL.

THE PRISONERS TRANSFERRED TO IT YESTERDAY.

A Handsome and Well-Arranged Building, of which City and County Need Not be Ashamed—A Description.

As remarked by THE TIMES some days ago, the completion of the new County Jail is still some distance off. There is pressing need, however, that the prisoners be removed from the old adobe landmark at the corner of Spring and Franklin streets, that the owner of that property might get his own, for which he has been clamoring, for these many months. The cell-work of the new jail being ready for occupancy, a transfer was made yesterday; and last night the steel cages of the new building were well filled with the ragged army which has been under Jailer Thompson's care for varying lengths of time. At 3:45 yesterday afternoon the transfer was begun. Deputy Sheriff Hammel having charge, and being assisted by Bill Stoenner and a dozen policemen. The prisoners were taken on handcuffs, two and two, surrounded by officers. There were fifty-six of them in all, including the four murderers, Kilgore, Bodkin, O'Connell and Dineen; Mrs. Peterson, who is serving for the robbery of Charles Werth, and others of all shades of toughness. All went without a murmur, and all were pleased at the change. Humane and comfortable quarters from the tedious old ones.

THE JAIL.

Description of the County's Fine New Building.

In view of the fact that the new County Jail is sufficiently advanced to be occupied, a description will not be out of interest. The building is a handsome modern-Gothic edifice, built of pressed brick with granite trimmings. In its commanding situation on Courthouse Hill, it is readily seen from most parts of the city. The plans were drawn and specifications made by A. M. Edelman, and work was begun last spring. The ground dimensions are 82½ feet, the length running about east and west and the front facing New High street. There are two stories and basement. The extreme height is 45 feet. The front has a large buttressed Gothic door and five large Gothic windows. The door is reached by a flight of granite steps.

THE FIRST FLOOR.

Entering the big arched door, the visitor stands in a short hall 10 feet wide. To the left of this hall is the general office, 16x16; to the right the jailer's private apartments, of the same dimensions. Passing back through the entrance hall, enter and open doors of wood and iron, respectively, lead into the staircase hall, which is also 10 feet wide and contains an iron staircase, the second story. To the left of the staircase hall is the room for condemned criminals, 18x24, where the death-watch will be kept over the doomed. To the right of the staircase hall is a room 10x14 for the jailer's assistant or for the physician.

Passing back beside the staircase will enter the visitors' corridor, which runs across the building about north and south, and is 18x24 feet. The floor of this corridor is laid on iron girders. In this large apartment are two special cells, each 6x9, and a consultation cell 8x8. Opening east from the visitors' corridor, and south of the staircase hall, is a trustee's room 8x8, and a private bathroom 6x8. Opening from the corridor, in the same direction, is a large hall, 18x24, which has a large staircase hall, a crazy cell 8x14. From the north end of the visitors' corridor is a large door from the side of the jail, to connect with the Courthouse.

THE CELL-TIERS.

Back of the visitors' corridor comes the third division of the building, containing the bulk of the cells, very simply but ingeniously arranged. The whole cell-space is a vast iron and steel box, horizontally by a floor into two stories, and perpendicularly by numerous partitions, into 30 cells. There are thus three tiers of cells, the upper tier containing 14, which range in size from 6x9 to 9x9 (the latter being hospital cells); and the lower tier, ranging from 7x9 to 9x9. The floor is 4½ feet above the level of the visitors' corridor floor. A 10-foot corridor runs down the middle of each double line of cells; and the cells stand with a 5-foot space between their backs and each other wall. By this arrangement the trustee or any other person standing in the visitors' corridor will command, through the barred gratings, a view of everything behind and between the cells of both tiers, and the prisoners when they are let out into the cell corridors. This much lessens the chance of escape. From the visitors' corridor a 4½-foot flight of steps leads up to the upper tier, and a similar flight to the lower tier. All the cells have the combination lever bolts, and each has also a special Yale lock.

THE BASEMENT.

From the corridor of the lower tier, an iron staircase descends 8 feet into the jail kitchen, 10x16x4, where all necessary ranges, stoves, boilers, etc., are kept. The kitchen opens two storeys, each 13x16. In front of these are two dungeons, each 7x16, with a 10-foot wall between. In front of all, and running under and across the whole front of the building, is the coal and the wood room, 14x16x4.

THE SECOND STORY.

Returning from the basement to the first floor, and going up the iron staircase, one lands on the second floor, in a hall 10x24. North and east of this is the jailer's private apartments—a chamber, 14x16x4; another, 10x16; a dining-room, 14x16x4; a kitchen, 10x16x4, with closets, pantry, bathroom and private staircase leading to the first floor and to a private side entrance. South of the jailer's suite is the department for female prisoners, with three cells, ranging from 6x9 to 7x9, and a bathroom, 6x10. Back of these is the upper visitors' corridor, 18x24. This contains four cells 6x9, for the boys' and girls' prisoners, and a shower for the women. Some extra accommodation is required. Back of this visitors' corridor is an iron grating, with an iron door leading into a big room 20x20, containing space for cells to accommodate 40 prisoners. This room will not be fitted with cells at once, but meantime can be utilized as a workshop or for anything else.

Some of the cells are steel cages, and some iron. In the floor of the corridor of the second tier of cells is a trapdoor for executions—an excellent feature, which will obviate the improper attendance of a multitude at the next legal execution held here.

IN THE ELA PARK TRACT.

Situated on Gates, Hansen, Hancock, Patrick and George sts., East Los Angeles.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2ND, 1886, at 10 o'clock precisely, on the grounds.

This attractive property is the most desirable in East Los Angeles, being only a block north of Downey ave., within easy access of the street cars, and the natural slope of the land makes drainage perfect.

PURE MOUNTAIN WATER IS LAID TO THE TRACT.

HIGH ELEVATION.

NO POGS. NO FROSTS.

NO MALARIA. NO ARTHRA.

The largest lots ever put on the market. Magnificent view of the city and ocean. Offering a panoramic scene of unsurpassing beauty. Many of the lots have orange trees and vines on them. All will give a balance in value.

THE BUENA VISTA BRIDGE IS COMPLETED.

Which will shortly be an accomplished fact, and remove entirely the present inconvenience of railroad and river. No such property has ever been offered for sale upon such easy terms, with so great a certainty of a rapid sale.

TITLE PERFECT. A certificate furnished with each lot and an abstract for inspection. TERMS OF SALE: Ten per cent. on the fall of the hammer; 25 per cent. within 30 days; balance in 12 and 18 months, at 4 per cent. interest; giving all a chance to buy and make a turn with a handsome profit.

No land, no free lunch, no tally-ho coach, but strictly business. Parties wishing to view the place will please call at our office, where a carriage will be at their service. Also both lines of the East Los Angeles street cars pass within a block of the tract.
